Hello Parents!

Well, the countdown is definitely on now- less than two weeks of school left! It is really hard for me to believe. This is usually our busy, fun time at school with field trips, buddy activities, and of course, sports day. I am sure missing your kids, and seeing their happy little faces every day. You have all worked so hard at home with them, and I can't thank you enough for all that you do!

Our class zoom will be on Wednesday this week, but I had to schedule it in the morning, at 10am. I am sorry if this time does not work out for you this week. I did have some requests from parents, and I also have other meetings that I need to attend that day. Hopefully, it works out for most of my families. I am always amazed at the amount of students that show up each week for zoom-so special! It will be wear your clothes backwards and/or inside out day on zoom and Madame Conway will be joining us for French.

We have one last pick up for our families at the school. The only item that was left for my families to pick up were indoor shoes. Some of you have already picked up your child's shoes. If you could drop off the novel that I sent to your child last month when you pick up the shoes, that would be great. Pick up day will be on June 19th.

Our last spelling test is this week! The kids have been doing great with their tests at home- thank you for posting their work each week. Below are the last two sentences to dictate, or feel free to use your own! Enjoy the week everyone!

1. The knight had to climb the castle wall to find his sword.
2. I know that the whole class will have fun with Mrs. Gilbert in Grade Three!
